

INTERCHANGEABLE BEETLE

SECURE OPEN MERCHANDISING

More and more merchandise is on open display to allow the customer to handle and interact with merchandise before purchase. The Interchangeable Beetle is a tough but flexible solution to allow the secure display of merchandise. This alarm can be used as a traditional tag or in combination with a variety of cables, allowing the Beetle to be attached to almost any type of product. If used in conjunction with any RF or AM EAS system, the Beetle will also trigger the antennas system.

Key Features:

- Compatible with both RF and AM EAS systems
- Choice of cable attachments
- Remove with either a standard or pocket detacher.
- Simple to apply and remove
- Tough, secure and reusable

Beetle Technology:

- The Beetle will activate an EAS alarm if an attempt to take it through a system occurs.
- The Beetle will alarm if any attempt is made to tamper with it before authorised removeable.
- The Beetle will self alarm if any attempt to cut the cable.

Pocket detacher to allow staff instant access to live stock.

Can be used with or without a choice of cables

Suggested applications:

- Depending on the cable used, the Beetle is ideal for consumer electronics of all kinds: mobiles, laptops, tablets, headphones, TV's as well as high value accessories, such as handbags.
